Functional Notes

- Displays full details about a contract including description, reward, availability dates, and the number of places remaining.
- The Places Remaining value indicates how many users can still accept the contract before the maximum acceptance limit is reached.
- Users can accept the contract if it is currently available and places remain.
- If the contract is not yet available or has no remaining places, users can choose to watch the contract to receive a notification when it becomes available.
- A Back to Contracts link allows users to return to the contract list.
