Responsive Notes

- Navigation moves from the sidebar to the top of the page so the layout works better on tablets.
- Contract information remains the same as the desktop version, including reward details, availability dates, and places remaining.
- The page layout stays mostly the same because tablets still have enough screen width to display the contract information clearly.

Responsive Notes

- Contract information is displayed in a vertical layout so it fits the smaller screen.
- Details such as availability dates, reward, and places remaining are stacked for readability.
- Users scroll through the contract details before choosing to accept the contract or watch it if it is not yet available.
